Britain Bows To Iran, Will Quit Abadan

Evacuating Oilmen Before Deadline; U.N. Hears Protest

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—(AP)—The United Nations plunged into the bitter British-Iranian oil dispute today, with Britain bowing in advance to Iran's order expelling Britons from the great Abadan refinery area.

A London announcement said Britain plans to evacuate all her oil men from Abadan by Thursday, the deadline set by the nationalist Iranian government. Abadan dispatches said most of the oil men would leave by warship for Basra, Iraq, Wednesday, and the remaining few officials would go to Basra Thursday.

Iran made it clear she was insisting upon the expulsion in spite of the pending British complaint before the Security Council.

Deputy Premier Hossein Fatemi said in Tehran that the Security Council had no power to recommend that Iran lift the expulsion order. Previously, Hussein Makki, of the Iranian national oil board, said if the Britains insisted on staying at the refinery, they would be "escorted off by police with the greatest respect and kindness."

Await Notification

Iran's aged, frail and emotional premier, Mohammed Mossadegh, has not yet mentioned flying to New York for the Security Council meeting. His deputy, Fatemi, said Iran still has received no formal notice from the Security Council on the British complaint and no decision on whether Mossadegh would go to New York would be made until such official notice was received. The government had announced previously Mossadegh would attend the New York meeting.

Ten British warships are anchored off Basra, only 40 miles from Abadan on the Shatt-El-Arab estuary, and there was some talk in London of an "oil blockade" of Iran to insure that the Iranians do not sell stored Abadan oil which Britain considers property of the Anglo-Iranian Co.

Makki has said that if such a blockade were imposed, it would be "most dangerous and would be the beginning of hostilities."

U. S. Delegate Ernest A. Gross outlined American policy as "based on the hope that an agreement can be reached between the parties which will do justice to both."

Statement

In a statement on the eve of the urgently convened session, at Flushing Meadow, New York he added:

"Our effort in the U.N. will be directed toward this objective."

He issued this statemnt after several hours of talks with delegation members and with others including William M. Rountree, director of the state department's office of Greek-Turkish-Iranian affairs. Rountree came from Washington for the council sessions.

While calm words were being spoken here, Mossadegh attacked the "rulers of the world" who, he said, "handcuff the weak and hasten to the assistance of the strong. They love liberty but not for others. They recognize property rights but only in order to usurp the rights of the weak."

Opposition deputies in Tehran, who have been boycotting sessions of the Iranian parliament to show their disapproval of Mossadegh's extremist policies, joined forces with him in a patriotic front. They said they acted, not because they had changed their position, but "to show the world Iranian national unity must be preserved whenever there is a dispute between our country and a foreign country."

ARGENTINE WORKERS MASS AFTER SHORT-LIVED REVOLT. The Plaza de Mayo in Buenos Aires, Argentina, is packed with workers to hear President Juan D. Peron speak from the balcony of the Casa Rosada (right). Peron told the workers that a short-lived military uprising had been put down and that a plot to assassinate him and his wife had been foiled.

Marks Second Birthday

Red China Lashes Out With Blast at West

TOKYO, Oct. 1—(AP)— Red China on its second anniversary lashed out at the United States and other non-Communist nations and boasted it had achieved great reforms at home.

The official Peiping Radio broadcast a series of tirades aimed abroad and plaudits that showered down on home soil.

It said Red China was goaded into the Korean war by the decision last Oct. 7 of the United Nations General Assembly to occupy all of Korea. It pictured Red China now as thirsting for peace but ready for more war.

Radio Text

"Since August, 1950 the American Air Force, attacking Korea, has been constantly invading the skies of northeast China," the broadcast said.

"Furthermore, through U. S. government manipulation and coercion, the United Nations General Assembly on Oct. 7 passed a blood-thirsty proposal to occupy all Korea. This tried the patience of the Chinese people too far. They therefore organized volunteers to resist American aggression, aid Korea, protect their homes and defend their motherland."

The Peiping Radio said that between Oct. 25 and Sept. 10, 1951, the Red forces "wiped out over 317,000 American-Rhee troops, including more than 140,000 American, British, French, Turkish and other troops."

"In July of this year the United States government was compelled to express its willingness to conduct negotiations for an armistice in Korea . . . However, as American imperialism does not show the least good faith, the Chinese people have no option but to stand ready to beat back any new offensive . . . at the same time striving . . . for the success of the armistice negotiation."

Stalin made the statement in a telegram to Mao on the occasion of the second anniversary of the proclamation of the Chinese People's Republic.

Apple Sale Nets $1,147

Kiwanis To Use Funds In Children's Work

A sum of $1,147.74 was collected by Marion Kiwanians who sold apples on downtown corners in observance of National Kids' Day. The sale was scheduled for Friday and Saturday, Sept. 21 and 22, but rain Saturday caused its postponement until last Saturday.

This year's total was almost $400 higher than the sum collected last year. Ray Reidenbaugh, chairman of the project committee, announced today, "We want to thank the citizens of Marion and Marion County for their fine cooperation and generosity in our annual apple sale."

All money raised in the sale will be used in Marion for work with children by the Kiwanis Club. Medical care and recreational opportunities are provided for city and county children by the funds collected.

Mr. Reidenbaugh estimated that between 50 and 60 bushels of apples were sold.

"Suspicious" Boys Just Novice Church-Goers

Three "suspicious characters" were reported skulking around the Emmanuel Baptist Church at Fairview and North Main streets during church time yesterday.

The report was received by police from a North Main street resident.

Police investigated and found three high school age boys trying to get up nerve enough to go inside.

They told officers they had never been to church before.

The boys were welcomed to the church and were urged to return next Sunday, it was reported.

Soviets Can't Invade U.S., Admiral Says

Continued Control Of Seas Vital to U. S., Navy Chief Writes

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—(AP)—The chief of the United States Navy said today there is "no possibility whatsoever" of Russian armies invading this country as long as America retains control of the seas.

On the other hand, Admiral W. M. Fechteler, chief of naval operations, said he believes Allied forces could invade and occupy strategic and important areas of Russia in event of war.

Fechteler also said in a copyrighted article in U. S. News and World Report, a weekly newsmagazine:

▶ If war breaks out within the next 20 to 30 days, the United States and its Allies would win it.

▶ Russia cannot seriously "jeopardize the existence of the United States by air raids.

▶ Russia's estimated 300 modern submarines are the greatest menace, but the U. S. Navy has made marked progress in antisubmarine warfare, and the balance is turning in favor of antisubmarine forces.

▶ The Navy plans to use atom bombs to destroy enemy submarine bases, some of which in World War II held up under other types of bombing.

▶ "In a number of years" the Navy will have atomic-powered carriers, carrier-based atomic artillery, submarines, and atomic torpedoes, but the problem now is to prevent war with the equipment on hand.

▶ The Navy has anticipated use of Russian submarines in the Korean war and has an adequate antisubmarine force in the area.

▶ The Navy is speeding up its program to release its reserves, and by the end of this fiscal year "we will be through calling any enlisted reserves except volunteers."

▶ The theory that each of the armed services must "be doled out the same amount of money" is obsolete. Each force has a specific job to do, and it may cost one

Supreme Court Opens New Term

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—(AP)—The Supreme Court today begins a new term which may produce historic decisions affecting Communists, racial relations, and other important national problems.

Returning to the bench after summer vacation that began in June, the tribunal's nine justices already have before them requests for final rulings on these issues:

May alien Communists be locked up without bail during deportation proceedings, if the Attorney General feels they are too dangerous to be at liberty?

May aliens be deported because they were once members of the Communist party?

Many states bar Communists from employment in public schools?

Should the court reconsider the case of the 11 top U. S. Communist leaders whose convictions it upheld last June? (Their attorneys have filed pleas for reconsideration, although seven of the leaders are now in prison and four are fugitives. The covictions, in a New York federal court, were for conspiring to teach violent overthrow of the government.)

Attlee Will Campaign On Threat of War

SCARBOROUGH, Eng., Oct. 1—(AP)—The Labor party made the threat of a third world war its prime issue today in Britain's general election campaign.

It claimed that only a labor government could work effectively for world peace.

By implication it branded Winston Churchill's Conservatives a potential war party.

Some 1,500 delegates and party leaders opened a two and a half day annual conference at this seaside resort in preparation for the Oct. 25 election.

Prime Minister Clement Attlee officially presented the party manifesto—its election platform—to the conference at 8 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time). The four-point manifesto places its prime emphasis on peace.

The other three points are full employment and increased production, a cut in the cost of living, and a continued policy of soak-the-rich and reward the worker.

The 1,800 word platform was put together and unanimously approved by party leaders including Aneurin Bevan, the former health minister who split with Attlee last April.

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECT DIES

ELLISON BAY, Wis., Oct. 1—(AP)—Jens Jensen, 91, world-famed landscape architect, died early today at his home, "The Clearing," after an illness of two years. He was one-time general superintendent of the Chicago park district. Jensen resigned in 1920 and spent the next 15 years designing and laying out estates for the nation's wealthiest men, including Henry and Edsel Ford and Hugh Vanderventer.

Reds Remain Silent, Bradley Visits Front

TOKYO, Oct. 1 — (AP)—Red leaders persisted today in their long silence on an Allied proposal to change the Korean truce meeting place from Kaesong to no-man's-land.

Gen. Omar Bradley said Sunday the future of the armistice negotiations "will depend on the nature" of the Communist reply.

The chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff flew to Korea Monday with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Allied supreme commander, and Charles (Chip) Bohlen, State Department expert on Russia.

Bradley, wearing battle dress, went to Korea to visit front-line divisions.

He had told a news conference in Tokyo Sunday "No one can foresee if they think "the truce talks will be successful or unsuccessful. I don't think anyone expected quick results."

He expressed hope that an armistice can be reached, but made it clear that was up to the Reds.

The talks were broken off abruptly by the Communists Aug. 23 with a charge that an Allied plane violated the Kaesong neutral zone. The United Nations command denied this.

Warning To Reds Issued By Ridgway

Set To Strike Hard If Reds Want War, Headquarters Says

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Oct. 1—(AP)—The Eighth Army is "prepared to strike, and strike hard" in Korea if the Reds want all-out war instead of truce talks.

That warning was issued tonight in Tokyo by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's public information office.

It came as Gen. Omar N. Bradley, America's top military leader, and Ridgway toured command posts on the eastern front where the United Nations' autumn offensive got under way last Tuesday.

On the other side of the war-torn peninsula, sunny skies brought the air war back to Korea. Twenty-seven U. S. F-86 Sabre jets clashed with about 40 Red-nosed Communist MIG-15s in a series of dogfights that swirled for 25 minutes north of Sinanju.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said one of the Russian-made MIGs was destroyed and three were damaged. No Allied losses were reported.

Of truce negotiations, the Ridgway headquarters statement said "the whole issue of the resumption of talks is one that cannot be hedged much longer.

New Offensive Started

"Meanwhile, indications are that the Eighth Army is not planning to sit idly by while the Communists string out negotiations for another long period. A few days ago an autumn offensive was started. The Eighth Army commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, said, 'Whether this new effort will be limited, I am not at liberty to say.' But the fact remains that the U.N. command Army is poised and prepared to strike, and strike hard, should the Reds decide that they have had enough of the armistice talks and wish to get on with the war on an all-out scale."

The statement said Bradley's visit "highlights the tension of the entire Korean problem.

"The Communists must realize that the time for bluffing is over."

Bradley, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, was accompanied to Korea by Ridgway, Van Fleet and Charles (Chip) Bohlen, U. S. State Department expert on Russia.

At the air strip of an American division on the eastern front Bradley talked briefly with division staff officers, commanding generals of three South Korean divisions, and commanders of French and Dutch battalions.

Dressed in Battle Garb

Bradley was dressed in an olive drab field uniform. A pistol and a canteen swung from his belt. The five-star general walked down a line of high ranking officers and shook hands with each.

The three generals flew to the eastern front in a convoy of light planes. The weather was so windy that other light aircraft pilots said they would not fly unless ordered to do so.

Bradley told reporters he would not make any statement except that he would be in Korea "a short time."

His itinerary was not disclosed. However, he is expected to confer with all or most corps and division commanders and inspect some of the United Nations units near the front.

There was little action on the eastern front when Bradley visited that area.

Fighting was slowed by overnight rains and wind that tore down tents, flooded foxholes and chilled infantrymen to their bones.

Around "Heartbreak Ridge," fighting continued for two hill positions. There was no new report of heavy action on Heartbreak itself.

On the west, the war quieted after an Allied victory Sunday gave U.N. troops three hills west of Chorwon.

U.S. Ready For Volume Arms Production

Hold Up Making Some Weapons Until New Models Designed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—(AP)—The government may be holding back volume production of some weapons so scientists can come up with deadlier models.

A hint to that effect was contained in a new report last night on the defense program from chief mobilizer Charles E. Wilson. He said the armed services are keeping constantly in mind the problem of fast production as against the advantage of wating for a better weapon

Expressing general satisfaction with the entire mobilization, Wilson said the nation is on the threshold of mass military production with the "tooling up" stage about over.

But he said "Our nation is in danger" and consequently progress in getting ready for quantity production "can never be fast enough."

"A basic consideration always present, his report to President Truman said, "is the extent to which quantity production should be held back in order that new and superior models may be substituted for those now in production or about to be produced.

"Scientists and engineers are at work constantly on weapons more effective than those currently accepted as standard models.

"To the extent that 'freezing' of designs is delayed, we will get fewer weapons immediately but better weapons later.

"Weighing the advantages of faster production against the advantages of waiting for new models will be a major continuing concern of the armed services during the period immediately ahead."

Wilson added that as the needs of the fighting forces in Korea are met "it may be preferable on

Boy Accidentally Shoots Self; Walks Half a Mile for Help

An 11-year-old boy walked half a mile yesterday afternoon with the slug from a 22 caliber rifle lodged in the calf of his left leg.

Larry Fairchild, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Fairfield of near Marion, shot himself accidentally on Owens road while going target shooting yesterday.

He was reported walking along the road carrying the rifle with the muzzle down when it accidentally discharged. The slug lodged in his left calf. He was forced to walk to the home of his aunt, Mrs. Albert Seiter, a half mile away for help.

Clyde Bruce of Marion, visiting at the Seiter home, drove the boy to the Marion City Hospital. He was treated yesterday, and submitted to surgery today for the removal of the slug. He was reported in "good" condition.

Larry is a sixth grader at Olney avenue school. He has four brothers. His parents operate a filling station on Route 4 about a mile south of the Marion city limits.

Doctor Racing Stork Gets Escort Instead of Ticket

A speeding doctor got a police escort instead of a ticket Saturday afternoon in a race with the stork.

Patrolman Tom LeSavage of the Marion state highway patrol station, while investigating an accident on Route 529 near the Morrow County line, saw a car going past at a high rate of speed.

LeSavage gave chase, overtook the car, and found it was Dr. S. L. Brody of Cardington, on his way to the Marion City Hospital where a patient of his, Mrs. Phyllis Phillips of Cardington, was about to give birth to a child.

Patrolman LeSavage then led the procession to the hospital and Dr. Brody arrived just before Mrs. Phillips' child was born. Dr. Brody arrived at the hospital at 1:15 p.m. and the six-pound eight-ounce daughter was born at 1:20 p.m.

Mrs. Phillips is the wife of Charles Phillips. He is employed at the Riverside Dairy in Cardington. This was their first child. Mrs. Phillips is 19 years old, her husband is 22.

Noted Church Leader Dies In Chicago

Dr. Michelfelder Was Native Of Crawford County

Rev. Dr. S. C. Michelfelder, top administrator of World Lutheran Affairs and a native of Crawford County, died yesterday in Chicago, The Associated Press reported.

He was stricken Wednesday with a heart ailment while visiting Chicago for meetings of National Lutheran Council committees. His headquarters were in Geneva, Switzerland.

Chairman of the material aid division of the department of reconstruction and inter-church aid of the World Council of Churches since 1947, Dr. Michelfelder headed vast church relief activities.

He was responsible for distribution of a major portion of some $40,000,000 in cash and goods contributed by American Lutherans for overseas rehabilitation work during the last 10 years.

He had headed the world federation's administrative office since 1946, and was chief European representative of the group's U. S. committee since 1945.

Favor Ike For G.O.P. Nomination

Governors Vote 9-4 for General At Annual Meeting

GATLINBURG, Tenn., Oct. 1—(AP) — Republican differences over a presidential candidate for 1952 were reflected today at the 43rd annual governors' conference here.

An Associated Press poll among the 25 G.O.P. governors showed nine voting for Eisenhower, four supporting Robert A. Taft of Ohio and the rest not expressing an opinion.

There was indecision among G.O.P. governors both on whether Eisenhower would be available or would be satisfactory as a nominee.

Talk among both Republicans and Democrats about the White House race next year was heard as the governors' conference was poised to tackle national defense problems.

Favor Truman

Democrats outside the south stuck to President Truman as both parties' members talked politics at high speed while awaiting a roundtable discussion with George C. Marshall, former secretary of defense; Charles F. Wilson, the defense mobilizer, and Millard F. Caldwell, civilian defense administrator.

The pro-Eisenhower sentiments expressed by some governors were offset somewhat by these developments:

1. Gov. Earl Warren of Cali-

By JOHN CROSBY

They're Working the Boy Too Hard

My only fear for Sid Caesar is that he'll die young. He has subjected himself to an incredible amount of punishment for two years now. Not all the ingenuity that goes into the Caesar monologues and sketches comes from Caesar, of course, the writers and producer Max Liebman deserving large hunks of credit.

But the genius, the polish, the timing are all Caesars, and the work, in the final analysis, falls on his shoulders. I think they're working the boy too hard. "The Show of Shows" originally opened as a terribly long—much too long—variety show with everything from Gertrude Lawrence to ballet. Now, it's almost exclusively Caesar and his extraordinarily gifted sidekick, Imogene Coca, with a singer thrown in from time to time to give Mr. Caesar a chance to change his clothes

John Crosby

How long can he keep it up? Caesar has been confounding the experts by keeping it up gallantly and apparently tirelessly week after week. Last May he boasted that his library now contained 68 spots, including 34 big numbers, 25 pantomines, 20 of his German scientist monkeshines, eight silent movies, eight foreign films and 20 cliche skits. He figured that he had enough for 10 musical comedies then.

* * *

THE ONLY PERSON who appears unworried about it all is Caesar, a hard-working gentleman with enormous confidence in himself. I yield to no one in my admiration for the most talented young comic to come along in years but, for his own good, I think Caesar should be kept out of sight a little more, that there is something basically wrong with a format that thrusts such a load on him. Otherwise, the great man with the magnificently expressive hands, the rubber face and the superb timing, is in fine fettle and it's wonderful to have him back again.

* * *

RUFFLING THROUGH the files the other day, I came on an old 1946 column in which John Royal, NBC's elder statesman, issued a set of predictions on the future of the TV industry which had just gone commercial, which had just really got under way. That was a period when everyone was issuing predictions about TV and it's enlightening to look back and see how right and how wrong some of them were.

Mr. Royal, for example, pointed out that television was three times as effective as radio and much more expensive. Therefore, he concluded, a television show only one-third as long as a radio show could deliver the same impact, and that some TV shows might be only 10 minutes long. It hasn't worked out that way. Television shows, the big ones anyway, are getting longer than radio shows which generally run to half an hour.

* * *

ANOTHER ROYAL prediction was that television couldn't afford the star system which supported radio because technical costs were too high. Yet television is creating a star system that may be even more burdensome than radio's.

* * *

ONE ROYAL prediction which may very well come true concerns its effect on politicians. Back in 1946, Royal pointed out that many of the stuffier politicos who sound all right on the radio and look all right in newspaper pictures will never survive the searching eye of a television camera. He believed there would be a lot of changes made when the voters get a clear look at the people who represent them. This has worked both ways, more often to the advantage than to the disadvantage of the politicos. Nothing did more to enhance the prestige of Secretary of State Acheson than the televised peace conference at San Francisco.

Paris Papers Predict New Peace Move

PARIS, Oct. 1 — (AP) — Two prominent Paris independent newspapers featured stories today indicating that Russia was planning steps to ease the tension between East and West.

The stories in neither paper cited exact sources for the news L'Aurore published an article saying that sources in Stockholm and London had disclosed:

1. Russia will agree to conditions insisted by the West for holding free elections in all Germany

2. Russia may propose a Big Four conference in Berlin late this month

3 It may ask the Koreans and Chinese to accept an armistice on the present front and would undertake mediation there.

4. In case of such agreements, the United States should be disposed to favor agreements between Communist China and Japan and entry of China into the United Nations.

France-Soir, in turn, said sources close to the Russian embassy indicated Russia might propose a world economic conference in Moscow sometime this winter, and would suggest cultural and economic exchanges between the United States and Russia, including an exchange of 1,000 students.

Time To Milk the Mice

THE American Meat Institute, which reflects what the meat industry is thinking, accuses Price Stabilizer DiSalle of "milking mice" when he says its members are engaging in "sharp practices."

What the Meat Institute means is that meat controls won't work, that Mr. DiSalle knows they won't work, and that he is trying to shift the blame to the meat industry with a recital of alleged misdeeds which are of no real consequence.

The mood of members of the meat industry who are sick and tired of being kicked around by politicians pretending they can control prices when they know they cannot fix them is not a happy one.

Edwin G. Nourse, former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, was blunt enough in a speech to American Meat Institute the other day to call price controls a "costly hoax." He declared: "If Congress and the executive branch are economically sophisticated and politically sincere, they will not go at the problem with the popguns of price fixing but will turn to the heavy artillery of fiscal and monetary control that is unquestionably within the prerogatives of government."

Boiled down to simpler language, Dr. Nourse thinks the Truman Administration should quit kidding consumers about price controls. When the control don't work, the people who are closest to the industries in which the breakdowns occur are accused by political appointees of long lists of crimes—"milking the mice," as the Meat Institute puts it.

That may be dandy politics, but it's a stupid way to let bureaucrats run a good country into the ground.

When Summer Is Over

ALL dates to the contrary notwithstanding, summer is not over until everything has stopped growing, except grass. The curtain is not rung down until the first killing frost.

Only then is it proper to think about grate fires in the evening, moonlight on corn shocks and high-flying geese winging southward. Only then is it seasonable and reasonable to get ready for the first snowstorm, to worry about frozen radiators on automobiles, to put away the porch furniture and to get top coats out of moth-proof bags.

The end of summer is when it happens, like the end of winter—not on any date designated by forgotten calendar makers who lived in some other climate. Summer is here until the first killing frost and then comes back later to haunt its friends, as Indian summer.

There have been years when summer lasted well into October, years when it perished in September, just as there have been winters which lasted far into May while others succumbed to the mildness of the first sunshiny day in February.

Oldest Pattern on Record

IF WRONGDOING has become a way of life in the United States, which is the conclusion jumped at by Austin S. Iglehart of General Foods Corp. in a recent speech, Mr. Iglehart is inaccurate when he says it is part of a "new pattern of things."

It is the oldest pattern on record.

Mr. Iglehart is talking about a progressive shortage of uprightness in this country. He finds this shortage cropping out in forms so numerous they can't be counted—everywhere from graft in public life to hypocrites who condemn office-holders for taking graft while tempting them to take more of it, there is more stealing by clerks in stores, reports Mr. Iglehart. There is more embezzlement. Wrongdoing ranges from "sheltered gangsterism" to "selfish opportunism," and it is on the increase.

But it is not new.

Like terrorism in dictator-ridden nations, the fall from a reasonable level of mass integrity in the United States is a throwback to the dark chapters of man's painfully slow development as a social being. Honesty is a virtue acquired by meditation on the benefits it bestows on the honest, and the meditation is most likely to be suggested by the example of honest men. It is not that honest men have disappeared, but only that so many dishonest men have become examples.

That can be overcome. The "new pattern" which is really the oldest pattern can be set aside by public refusal to tolerate people who seek to make wrongdoing a way of life in America.

Possibly the security information President Truman is most interested in trying to keep from the press in his new executive order is any that might jeopardize the security of his spend and tax administration.

The National Association of Bedding Manufacturers reports that in eight hours of sleep a person lifts the bedclothing 7,000 times in the process of breathing. According to that the night life folks who don't roll in until about 3 a.m. are saving a lot of energy.

Fair Deal Arithmetic

By Raymond Moley

IN THE current Senate debate on the tax bill, Senator Hubert Humphrey, as might be expected, has been the leading exponent of simon-pure Fair Deal theory. Hence, he made a great deal of the dollar savings of the American people this year, and by a devicus process of statistical argument drew three conclusions: First, that those savings are very great; second, that they go to the higher incomes; and third, that the higher incomes can bear the brunt of new tax levies. In so doing, he was running square against the contention of Senator George, the sponsor of the bill, who says that the higher incomes cannot yield the amounts needed and that new sources must be tapped. The true figures and all the dictates of common sense support George. One way to prove this is to take a look at the Humphrey figures and his assumptions based on them.

* * *

HUMPHREY CITES a Federal Reserve report that in the first six months of this year savings were accumulating at the rate of $21,000,000,000 a year. Then the senator draws the conclusion, wholly out of the rarified air in which the senator lives, that those savings are primarily in the group earning more than $5,000 a year. He "surmises" that. He does not know it. And it is quite probable that most of those savings were in the incomes below $5,000.

He draws another conclusion which is not warranted. The Federal Reserve Board did not say that $21,000,000,000 would be saved this year. It said that "for the three-month period ending on July 1 savings were at the rate of $21,000,000,000 a year." That is, the savings in the second quarter were multiplied by four to get the $21,000,000,000. But savings vary from quarter to quarter. In the first quarter of this year savings were, according to the Department of Commerce, only at the rate of $9,300,000,000. Hence, this year's savings will not be the figure stated but considerably less.

* * *

THE ACTUAL SAVINGS, according to these government figures, in the first half of this year were $7,600,000,000. But before we take even this as a source of taxes, several factors must be considered. First, how much debt has been piled up? This is a legitimate offset. And, what is more important, what are the savings worth?

The total savings on Jan. 1, 1951, were, according to the National Industrial Conference Board, $226,500,000,000. These were in the form of life insurance, time and other bank deposits, U. S. savings bonds, savings and loan association assets, and government pension funds. Inflation, as shown in Labor Department figures, sheared away a value of $9,000,000,000 from these savings from January 1 to July 1. Hence, the $7,500,000,000 were wiped out and savers were actually $1,400,000,000 poorer than they were six months before.

* * *

IF THE PREDICTIONS of more inflation made by the President come true, we shall be still poorer next January and poorer yet six months later.

This is sufficient to show the shoddy nature of Fair Deal figures, especially when presented by such exponents of the alleged common man as Hubert Humphrey. He mixes inaccurate figures with misrepresentation, innuendo, and surmise, and always comes up with the same fake conclusion: the rich can pay and the poor can have a free ride. The fact is that nobody is getting a free ride except the demagogues.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Dr. Russell Clark Bowdish, born Nov. 19, 1823, was one of Marion County's pioneer physicians. He attended the Marion Academy and was one of its first students. He studied medicine under Dr. John C. Norton and in 1844 was graduated from the Cleveland Medical College. The same year he began to practice at Waldo with Dr. Theodore Glidden and after one year moved to Caledonia. In 1851 he removed to Big Island, where he practiced until 1889 when he moved to Marion.

For Fun Only

By TRUMAN TWILL

FOR FUN ONLY—24 Bod Bold

HALF the mirth-producing tall tales of the past in my repertory I owe to under-emphasis on football in my own sweet Alma Mater.

She had only one requirement for making the football team—to try. Due to the fact that there never were 22 male persons so foolishly inclined and girls couldn't play under official rules. I clinched a varsity position.

The only thing the players got out of football in this kind of a naive setup was a chance to swipe hotel towels on trips, and that was only an outside chance. The hotel managers usually went through the equipment bags when the team checked out.

It took an even faster filcher to get away with a towel from the visitor's locker room, because that was the oldest crime in the book and could be stopped by the simple expedient of making your own team's manager personally responsible for turning back as many towels as he had been issued.

There was no graft. If you survived the slings, arrows, elbows and spiked shoes of outrageous fortune and the subsidized opposition, you were given a chenille letter which you could have installed on a sweater of your own purchase if you chose.

The only concession to the needs of athletes in the classroom was to let a slumbering hero snore gently in a Monday class after a weekend trip, because the oaf was not going to survive the semester exams anyway and was less trouble asleep than awake.

These thoughts are stimulated by a report that 33 colleges and universities have dropped football this year. Some of them had teams which at one time or another had made the big time; i. e., the level at which the public paid attention to what they were doing.

That was another feature of football at Alma Mater. The public was indifferent to it. In fair weather the students would turn out for the air and the sunshine. But if it rained or snowed, even they lurked in their snug quarters and played bridge or poker.

The football players used to resent this attitude, because at other schools everybody turned out and hollered his head off, even in blizzards. The players were heroized and carried along in their classroom work. It even was rumored darkly that some were not bona fide students at all, just athletic professionals. This made a fellow who was playing for fun feel apologetic for the fun, if, any, that he was having. It was hick stuff.

But Alma Mater kept right on believing in football for fun. Occasionally some old grad would lose his poise and patience and try to move in and dirty up the amateurism of the setup, but this didn't have any impact. Anyone stupid enough to take a gratuity for going to a school that lost nearly all of its games anyway was too dumb to survive the first rounds of examinations.

Belatedly, Alma Mater, this is to acknowledge that you knew what you were doing. Next housecleaning time we'll try to find one of those chenille letters and have it sewed on the back of a bathrobe—H for Harmless. And meanwhile, keep on playing football for fun. It's better than giving it up altogether.

Improve TV Signals

NEW YORK — (AP) — Microwave radio links have been found in television network relaying which permit the passage of better signals, TV engineers here say. This is attributed to the fact that present coaxial cables limit the width of the signal, tending to cut down on the transmission. In micro-waving, wider bands are permissable, thereby eliminating such handicaps.

It Can't Happen? Record Says Yes

FACTS TO THINK ABOUT DURING NATIONAL NEWSPAPER WEEK, OCT. 1-8

WHILE Americans sit under the banner of freedom and smugly say "It can't happen here," the press is successfully stifled in many parts of the world.

The fallacy of the "it can't happen" attitude is this: It couldn't happen in Indo-China, Mexico, Colombia, or Argentina, where the Constitution guarantees freedom of the press.

But it is happening in those places—and in many others.

This is National Newspaper Week, Oct. 1—8, and as part of its observance, the American Newspaper Publishers Association has compiled a list of significant news items from over the world, entitled "It Can't Happen Here", which points out that it did happen where it couldn't—and that it could happen here in America.

The slogan for this year's National Newspaper Week is "Your Newspaper Lights the Way To Freedom."

Here are some of the news items which indicate how that light is being dimmed or extinguished in other countries:

Papers Censored In Indo-China

Associated Press Dispatch from Hanoi, North Vietnam, in part:

Hanoi's newspapers — one French daily and four Vietnamese language dailies—must submit their copy before publication to Vietnam government censors, who wield a blue pencil with a heavy hand.

Lebanon Newspapers Protest

Associated Press dispatch from Cairo, Egypt, Jan. 11.

An Arab News Agency dispatch from Damascus, Syria, said today that all newspapers in neighboring Lebanon suspended publication yesterday in protest against recent arrests of journalists who criticized the government and against existing government press laws.

Ultimas Noticias Fined

Associated Press dispatch from Caracas, Venezuela, May 12:

The newspaper Ultimas Noticias was fined (about $500) today for publishing political news not previously submitted to authorities for approval. The fine was imposed by the civil and political administration of the Federal District Government. It did not specify the objectional items.

Colombia Censors News

Dispatch in April 6 New York Times from Bogota, Colombia:

The Minister of Mails and Telegraphs cracked down on news broadcasts from Colombian radio stations in a recent degree establishing censorship of all news scripts. Scripts are restricted to facts as determined by the censor, and editorializing and comment are prohibited.

Hong Kong Press Curbed

The Hong Kong government has adopted an emergency law which calls for registration of newspapers, printing presses and news agencies, and power to suspend or suppress newspaper considered "prejudicial to public order, safety, health or morals," according to AP dispatch from Hong Kong, May 17.

Press Restricted In India

United Press dispatch from New Delhi, India, June 1:

Parliament, by a vote of 228 to 19, gave Prime Minister Jawaharial Nehru today the power to put what he calls "reasonable restrictions" on the freedom of the press. The vote came on a clause of a constitutional amendment which empowers the government to pass laws imposing restrictions on the press in the interests of: security of the state, friendly relations with foreign countries, public order, decency and morality, including especially punishment of such offenses as contempt of court, defamation or incitement to disorder.

Argentine Paper Expropriated

United Press dispatch from Salta, Argentina, June 20:

The Salta Province Chamber of Deputies voted today to expropriate the independent newspaper El Intransigente, closed since January, 1950. David Michel Torino, co-publisher of the paper and local leader of the opposition Radical party, and his brother, Martin Michel Torino, are at present under arrest, charged with contempt of government officials.

Congress Quiz

Q—Critics of the present Congress have said it spends too much time "investigating." Just how many "probes" has it conducted?

A—Approximately 130, according to a Congressional Quarterly survey. It included all studies and investigations not conducted as hearings on pending legislation.

* * *

Q—What are the three amendments which the administration says make the new price control law "unworkable?"

A—Written into the Defense Production Act when it was extended July 30, the amendments would allow a seller to pass on to consumers cost increases between the start of the Korean war and last July 26 prohibit a price ceiling which does not allow a pre-Korean profit percentage; ban the establishment of livestock slaughtering quotas. Mobilization officials appeared before a Senate committee Aug. 30 and 31 in a special plea for repeal of the amendments.

Brighter Retirement

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Retirement age is no longer a time of lonely, static existing, but a period of productive, active living, says Dr. Norman P. Miller, assistant professor of physical education at the University of California.

Miller says retirement these days is known for its "creative living, community activity and profitable avocations."

He recommends advance planning for those about to retire from regular jobs. First, the right place to settle down for each individual should be selected, then the right kind of hobbies, and the right kind of group or club to join should be carefully chosen, says Dr. Miller.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Blow of Blows

The old landmarks, guideposts, traditions, former ways of life, and the established institutions continue to fall. If it isn't one thing it's another. Now it is Adolphe Menjou's mustache. It has disappeared, and the world as we knew it has taken another blow.

Despite all the changes, all the upsets, all the fadeouts we had felt that the Menjou mustache was safe, a bulwark in the fight for the things of yesteryear. They could kill honor in great governments, efface all concepts of international law, destroy world amity and hack at the foundations of freedom, but Adolphe's mustache stood firm and indestructible. The old China could fall, British colonial rule topple, the economy of countless nations collapse . . . but every dawn saw the Menjou upper lip intact, unadulterated, strong, confident and reassuring.

PHILLIPS

Poland, Czechoslovakia and other states could lose their liberties, Churchill could lose a premiership, "Oklahoma" could lose a booking, MacArthur could lose his rule in Japan, the Yanks could even lose a world series, but the Menjou mustache remained unthreatened and intact. Boy and man, it had been with Adolphe, forty years, an American institution. The children, pop, mom, grandpa, grandma and even great-grandpop had been raised on it. It held a place on the screen with the Metro lion, the Pathe rooster, the haystack and the sunset finale.

* * *

All these things might go, we thought, as the white Russian wolfhound, the knitting scene and the silent drama had perished . . . but the Menjou face would weather every threat, survive every attack and stand firm against fire, storm or revolution. But, lo, this, too, has passed away.

The sad thought is that it took no terrific battle, no hand-to-hand trench fighting, no long, bitter struggle to accomplish the deed. Adolphe objected a little and put up some resistance, but it was only token resistance. All that was finally required to get his consent to the deed was $10,000! For ten grand, the great man surendered and shaved off the most famous mustache in movie history, the hirsiute adornment that had been liked with the moving pictures down through the years.

* * *

Just for a pittance he sold us,
Just for some silver and gold.
Jauntily taking the action,
Joining the clean-shaven fold.

Just for the ten grand he left us,
Giving the word "Let 'er rip!"—
Changing the time-honored features,
Leaving a SMOOTH UPPER LIP!

* * *

Adolphe, how could you! Ain't nuthin sacred no more? Ain't nuthin inviolate?

May Scrap Plans for 1952

Top Federal Agencies Planning Drastic New Cuts in Home Building

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29 — (INS)—Top officials of two federal agencies are considering new cuts in home building that are calculated to reduce housing production next year substantially below the announced goal of 85,000 dwelling units.

Plans are still in the very early stage of development but there is little doubt that the government is on the verge of junking the 1952 housing program that was adopted this summer.

Critical shortages of basic material combined with widespread government fears of new inflationary pressures in early 1952 are forcing mobilization directors to the conclusion that homebuilding will have to be reduced.

A spokesman for the National Association of Home Builders said "we will fight such a proposition tooth and nail," arguing that housing is neither inflationary nor does it consume large amounts of scarce materials.

* * *

NEVERTHELESS, ECONOMIC stabilizer Eric Johnston has opened a campaign to persuade other officials the necessity of further general cutbacks in construction. The ESA director says:

"I don't think you can build 850,000 to one million homes next year, as an illustration, and still have ample materials for the defense effort without bringing a terrific pressure for increases in prices, black markets and so forth which we must try to avoid."

Moreover, Johnston declares that "commercial office buildings will have to be drastically retarded if not completely stopped except in very critical areas." He says controls can be ended in two years but rent regulations may have to continue longer.

Johnston's remarks came as a surprise to Housing and Home Finance Agency officials who are trying to keep home building at the highest possible level. HHFA bureau chiefs are still hoping that 850,000 homes will be built next year as against the one million expected to be started in 1951.

* * *

AT THE NPA, however, there is grave concern over the copper situation and some officials are worried that the shortage will inevitably force new austerity on the industry.

One NPA official says copper is so scarce the agency may have to reduce allocations to individual builders in an attempt to make the supply meet demand.

In this connection HHFA officials have already warned NPA that copper allocations for October, November and December are "substantially below that required for 850,000 building starts."

A report on a recent plumbing industry meeting says that 26 million pounds of brass mill products had been requested but only 11 million pounds had been allotted for the 155,000 units expected to be started in fourth quarter.

Industry officials complained that while NPA announced production of plumbing goods would be cut only 26 percent the material situation is such that output will have to be reduced 57 percent.

NPA's report on the meeting continues:

"Answering the charge that the cut in copper imposed a death sentence on the plumbing brass goods industry, (assistant NPA administrator) Bowman acknowledged that the industry is faced with problems, that it's understandable that efforts will be made to resist depletion of labor forces.

"However, he added, the magnitude of the mobilization program requires skilled labor which must come from some place."

HOUSING NOTES: Government officials expect builders to make a good showing this month on the number of new homes started since rigid federal controls become effective next Monday.

Best guesses are that the industry will come close to the 85,000 units started in August although some officials say the figure may rise despite government regulations already in effect . . .

The Defense Production Administration has authorized construction of nine billion 427 million dollars worth of new industrial plants under the mobilization program. This covers 3,453 business facilities located in every section of the country.

Officials estimate that the number of critical defense housing areas may jump from the present 42 communities to approximately 200 not long after the program gets under way . . . Plans are also being readied to extend rent controls over another three million homes bringing the total to about ten million.

Veterans and Draftees Guide

—By—
Major Thomas M. Nial

A recent foul-up in messages from the Pentagon resulted in the Far East Command's telling draftees in Japan and Korea that they would serve a total 33 months. The Army says that whopping mistake has now been corrected and that all draftees, NO matter when they were inducted, will serve 24 months. That's only a three-month extension of the previous 21-month draft term.

Plenty of people in service and out are confused by the 12 month's involuntary extension of enlistments, which is another provision of the UMTS act. Here's the history of that:

Congress in the summer of 1950 allowed the President to add an extra year to all enlistments expiring between July 27, 1950, and July 9, 1951.

* * *

THIS SUMMER, in the UMTS act, Congress moved that latter date up to July 1, 1953. But the President announced that only the enlistments expiring before July 1, 1952, would be extended a year. Those expiring in the year ending July 1, 1953, may be extended later.

So the situation lines up this way . . .

1. All enlistments which expire before July 1, 1952 have been extended for 12 months from date of expiration. The fellow whose enlistment ends July 1, 1952, will get out that date, the way things stand now. The fellow whose enlistment expires June 30, 1952, will serve until June 30, 1953.

2. Draftees are not affected by this. Neither are any officers. The only ones affected are the men (and women) who "enlisted" in some component of the armed forces. That is, those who voluntarily signed up for a certain number of years in the regular services, one of the reserves or the National Guard. If that certain number of years ends before July 1, 1952, they have 12 more months added to it.

3. Reservists and guardsmen can be kept on active duty for only 24 months or until the end of their extended enlistments, whichever comes first. The exception is veterans called from the volunteer and inactive reserves but not the Organized Reserve or National Guard. They may be kept on duty for only 17 months or to the end of their extended enlistments, whichever comes first.

Some reservists are slated for release before this time anyway, though present plans are to keep all National Guardsmen in for a full 24 months.

4. A reservist or guardsman who is released before his extended enlistment expires will serve out the rest of his his time on inactive duty.

5. A man's enlistment may be extended involuntarily only once.

Veal Birds With Rice Are Real Taste Treat

THEY bear little resemblance to the winged creatures, but these little rolls of veal, nested in lightly browned and artfully seasoned rice, are called birds. Bake a fruit pie or pudding in the oven while the birds are baking, make a tossed salad to accompany them and you have a meal that's down-to-earth substantial fare.

VEAL BIRDS WITH RICE

2/3 cup pre-cooked rice
2 T butter
¾ cup water
¾ t salt
Dash of pepper
2/3 cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped parsley
2 T finely chopped onions.
1¼ lbs. veal cut for veal birds
1 cup water

Melt 1 tablespoon butter in saucepan. Add rice and saute until lightly browned. Add ¾ cup water, salt, and pepper. Bring quickly to a boil. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 10 minutes. Add celery, parsley, and onion and toss lightly.

Spread each piece of veal with a small amount of rice mixture. Roll and fasten with toothpicks. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in skillet. Brown veal birds on all sides over high heat. Place in 1½-quart casserole. Add 1 cup water to butter remaining in skillet Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Pour over veal birds. Add remaining rice mixture to liquid. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 F.) 45 minutes. Remove cover and bake 15 minutes longer. Makes 4 servings.

Your Good Health

Psychotherapy Helpful When Swallowing's Difficult

From time to time swallowing becomes painful, difficult, and even impossible for the victim of a condition known as cardiospasm. These symptoms are caused by spasm of the valve between the esophagus and the stomach.

The cause of the sudden clamping and tightening of this muscle is unknown, though recently much evidence has come to hand indicating that psychological factors play an important role For instance, the vomiting after meals, which is such an outstanding symptom of the disorder, becomes worse when the patient is nervous or upset, and is less prominent when he is in a calm frame of mind. The vomiting in some cases may become so severe as to require hospitalization and feedings intravenously, that is, by giving fluids into a vein instead of by mouth.

The patient with cardiospasm is likely to follow a rather definite psychological pattern so far as his emotional make-up is concerned, preferring to "give in" rather than to argue, and to keep his emotions pretty well bottled up. Many times, it is the person who, on the surface, appears to be leading a calm and well-adjusted life, who has the deepest conflicts and emotional upsets.

Again, the individual may be a perfectionist—neat orderly, and meticulous about his activities, or he may lack energy, be very sensitive, and easily offended. He may have great difficulty in forgiving once he is offended, and may harbor resentment for long periods within himself. He may be shy and bashful, but likes to be well thought of. Such an individual may go to extreme degrees to avoid arguments.

Treatment consists in removing the psychological condition that may be responsible for the attack. Recently, a group of patients was treated with psychotherapy with good results.

Sometimes, the spasm may become so severe that it may be necessary to dilate the valve between the esophagus and stomach by physical means. This is usually performed by passing a string into the intestine and then passing different size beads down the string until the opening between the esophagus and stomach is enlarged.

The giving of drugs to relieve the spasm may also be of value. However, the treatment requires correction of the psychological factors causing the spasm.

M. PAUL HUNT

Gabrielson To Explain

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1—(AP)—Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson went before members of the Republican national committee today with the intention, an aide said, of inviting a full discussion of his relations with the RFC.

Some 300 Republican leaders were gathered in Washington for a one-day meeting to map strategy for the 1952 campaign.

They included committeemen and women from 21 eastern and southern states plus state chairmen and vice chairmen and representatives of the Young Republicans organization The 15 members of the executive committee of the national committee scheduled a closed meeting on strategy.

Gabrielson is president and legal counsel for Carthage Hydrocol, Inc, which received an $18,500,000 loan from the RFC. He has stated that all the loans were granted before he became Republican national committee chairman, that no "influence" was used to obtain the loans, and that he received no fees for them.

Nevertheless, some Republican congressmen and senators have demanded his resignation on the ground that it is improper for him to continue to represent the firm in recent repayment negotiations while he is also G.O.P. committee chairman.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

A Musty and Damp Odor

Q.: The cottage I own sets on concrete blocks and there are several openings in these walls for cross ventilation. There is also a casement window which I keep partly open. I notice that the ground under the cottage is green and moldy-looking and the cottage has a damp and musty odor. The space between the ground and the floor is about four feet What can I do to get rid of this dampness and musty odor.

A.: Evidently there is not enough ventilation of the air space under the house, and perhaps you shut off the ventilation during the winter season. The total area of the openings in the foundation wall should be at least one and one-half percent of the first floor area, more if possible. A good deodorant for musty odors is chloride of lime sprinkled in liberal quantities over the earth. Another suggestion would be to spray the ground with a strong solution of a mildewproofing compound.

Marion Man Bilked of $400

Benjamin R Prichard of Vernon Heights circle, Marion real estate dealer, was the victim of what Columbus police termed a "flim-flam" game Friday, and was defrauded of $400.

Mr Prichard told Columbus police he had contacted an Oil City Pa., man in connection with a pending real estate transaction. The two met Wednesday at a Columbus hotel The man told Mr Prichard he had to close a deal on oil stock before he would have the funds for the real estate purchase.

Mr Prichard told police he went to a bank where he cashed a personal check for $500. He gave the man $400 cash to settle the oil deal. They were to meet later at the hotel but at the appointed time, the Oil City resident failed to appear Mr Prichard checked at the hotel desk and was told the man had been checked out.

Columbus police have been unable to pick up any trace of the man.

Hear Crawford Home Charges

BUCYRUS, O., Oct. 1—(AP)—The Crawford County Grand Jury will consider charges of mistreatment of inmates and mismanagement at the county home in a session which began today.

Prosecutor Leo Scanlon's office said witnesses in the county home inquiry are scheduled to appear this afternoon and tomorrow morning. The Grand Jury was called for a week-long session.

Last month the county commissioners discharged the home's superintendent. Harold Dinkel, and the matron, Mrs. Dinkel. They listed 16 charges against Dinkel and 13 against his wife. The charges included one they had dunked an elderly woman inmate in a tub of cold water, and another they had used an electric fence charger on a feeble-minded inmate to keep her awake.

An inquest conducted by Coroner O R. Kackley cleared home personnel of responsibility for the death of one aged inmate. However, the coroner's report said there was evidence of mistreatment of patients.

Blame Marshall Plan

World Financial Structure Threatened, Bankers Say

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—(AP)—Foreign aid since the war has cost the American taxpayer $31.5 billion. He is told that the next three years he must shell out $25 billion more.

The aim is economic and financial stability Marshall Plan supporters say the taxpayer has got returns on his money in making Europe more economically stable and therefore more anti-Communist.

But in the matter of finance—gold, money and foreign exchange—bankers wonder if the American taxpayer hasn't been slipping backward instead of forward. The time when the world's money affairs are on a stable basis—currencies convertible from one to another and free of exchange restrictions — seems farther away today than it did five years ago. And in banking circles they are saying that United States fiscal polices are in large part responsible

Most gold is locked up in government vaults or dealt in on the black market. And today the international monetary fund, which was set up at Bretton Woods at the end of the war to monitor currency exchange and gold prices, is reported ready to throw in the sponge. It's going to leave it to the conscience of each gold producing country how much of the metal it sells in the premium market.

• • •

IN THIS MARKET industrial or artistic gold is sold as high as $50 an ounce, compared with the $35 an ounce official price the international monetary fund—at the insistence of the U. S. Treasury—has been trying to maintain. Gold producers say the premium price is what gold is really worth, as against what the U. S. Treasury contends it's worth.

In the matter of currency exchange, the world situation seems to be getting worse. A number of countries will let you take only a handful of money out of their borders. They won't let their nationals change their currency into dollars. They restrict how much money their people can spend on American goods.

And even the United States lets its citizens buy only small amounts of some foreign goods. Nor will it let them have gold in the form of money.

New curbs on world trade seem to be added for each one that is relaxed. And other countries ask for more and more dollars from the American taxpayer

• • •

THE GUARANTY TRUST CO. of New York, in its October survey published Friday declares that a fair share of blame for the mess lies with the United States government, in spite of America's five-year campaigning for the lifting of currency and trade restrictions.

Inflationary policies here since the war, the bank contends, have made it harder for foreign nations to achieve free and stable markets for their currencies. The bank makes its point this way:

Other countries are dependent on American goods. When prices rise here, importing nations find their balances of international payments out of kilter. The cost of their imports from us rise faster than the earnings they get from what they export, even though the physical volume of imports and exports may stay the same. Their gold and dollar reserves are drained off, and they look to us for more aid.

• • •

"WHEN THIS COUNTRY tries to strengthen foreign economies and meet dollar shortages by pouring out billions of the American taxpayer's money in foreign aid, it is, to a large extent, attempting to undo with one hand what it is helping to do with the other. Domestic inflation increases the need for foreign aid, and foreign aid aggravates domestic inflation. There is no visible end to such a vicious spiral."

The remedy? the bank suggests the United States government cut back it's free-wheeling spending policy, balance the defense budget through a general sales tax, abandon "the unrealistic attempt to peg standards of living in the face of the acknowledged fact that the supply of goods and services for civilians cannot be maintained," and abolish "the special exemptions of farm prices from general price control."

more money to do its job than it would another.

U. S. Strength

Admiral Fechteler said that by the end of 1952 the U. S. Navy would have about 100 submarines, 12 large fast carriers and 17 smaller carriers geared for antisubmarine warfare, 19 cruisers, 4 battleships, 340 destroyers and destroyer-escort types, an amphibious force to transport and supply two Army divisions, and associated auxiliaries.

By comparison, he said Russia has about 300 submarines, 3 old battleships, about 15 cruisers and 45 to 50 destroyers.

This sea superiority, he said, not only will "keep a war away from our homeland" but puts the U. S. in a position to strike at enemy bases hundreds of miles inland in case of war As for the possibility of Russian armies invading this country, he said:

"I see no possibility whatsoever as long as we have control of the sea and are in a position to deny the use of the sea to the enemy. We can't be invaded."

In 1912 he won 34 games and lost only five but opposing hurlers feared him at the plate as much as they did the big stickers. When Joe was sold to Cleveland he turned his activities strictly to the hitting department. He played the outfield for five years compiled a .298 average. In 1921 he batted .368 in 66 games.

Pittsburgh Area's 7th Embezzlement Case Is Disclosed

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 1—(AP)—The FBI checked records of the nearby Indiana First National Bank today after arresting Samuel Paul Lewis, 62, assistant cashier, in the seventh banking shortage turned up in the western Pennsylvania-West Virginia area within a year.

Lewis, a man whom associates and friends termed "the last person in the world" they would suspect of embezzlement, was in Allegheny County jail after failing to post $15,000 bail.

FBI agent Fred Hallford said Lewis admitted taking $48,479 39 of the bank's funds since October, 1947, but claims to have replaced the entire amount.

Hallford said, however, that bank examiners report there is still $40,000 missing from the funds

The listed shortage makes $2,885,499 the total which the FBI says has been embezzled from seven banks in western Pennsylvania and West Virginia in the past 12 months.

Last year 982,000,000 passenger journeys were made on British railways traversing 21,130,000,000 miles, an average of 22 miles per trip

Pinpoint New U. S. Population Center In Illinois Field

DUNDAS, Ill., Crossroads, U. S. A, Oct. 1 —(AP)—Census experts have pinpointed a new U. S. population center in Carl Snider's cornfield. Farm folks in the southern Illinois area are pleased, although amused at the fuss over it.

The young Mr. and Mrs. Carl Snider and their boys, Don, five, and John, two, live in Denver Township, Richland County, Ill.

Crossroads nearest the new center are graveled—leading to the nearest village, Dundas (pop 200), and the nearest church, Mt. Gilead, It's off the beaten track. U. S. highway 50 is a seven mile drive south.

Snider's neighbors are typical general farmers. Most cash in on corn and soybeans. A few luckier ones get oil royalties.

Most took the first news that the nation's center had moved into their midst with less enthusiasm than they would have for a new family moving onto the next farm.

They point out that it's only a mathematical balance of the population However, the Census Bureau formally fixes the center once every decade. The center now has crossed a state line for the first time since 1890 and gone farther south than ever on its western course.

2. Gov. Val Peterson of Nebraska, who favors Eisenhower, served notice that the general must speak out by Jan. 1 on his intentions. Otherwise, Peterson said, the nomination is likely to go by default to Senator Taft.

Says Draft Needed

3. Another Republican governor, also an Eisenhower supporter, told a reporter he doesn't believe the general will have anything to say about politics for months to come—that he will accede only to a genuine draft movement.

The theme of four of the Republican governors who spoke out at news conferences yesterday was that Eisenhower has a better chance of winning in 1952 than Taft. They were Govs. Peterson, Edward F. Arn of Kansas, Sherman Adams of New Hampshire and Walter J. Kohler Jr. of Wisconsin.

Report Morale Outweighs Risk

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Oct. 1—(AP)—The U. S. Army said officially today that American women and children are remaining in Germany because their morale value "outweighs the risks involved."

The estimated 45,000 dependents of U S occupation forces will continue to live here "unless changes in the political and military situation warrant" their removal, Army headquarters said.

There is a growing debate over the dangers of these women and children remaining so near the Iron Curtain.

The risks are that they might be overrun in case of a sudden Soviet attack across Germany—or that U. S. troops might be hampered in resisting an attack because of their efforts to evacuate their families to safely.

Military men acknowledged these risks The Army statement said the question "is subject to constant review by U. S. authorities in Washington and in the European command."

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

Hank pointed his reply to my father with a quick and brashly admiring glance at Bess Conway I saw her lips twitch ever so slightly, but she gave no other evidence of the inward laughter which I was sure was shaking her and of course she made no audible comment on Hank's tribute My father frowns heavily upon any interruptions to his instructions, unless, as in Hank's case, he especially invites comment

"I agree with you, Hank," my father said, and there was something in his voice which told me that he also was using control over his risibles 'But that does not make it easier for me to repeat what I have told you before that we are counting upon this traitor's son inviting Miss Conway to be his special guest of honor at the dinner we expect him to give, leaving you the choice of staying away, a disgruntled suitor, attracting the derisive comments of your mates, or of providing yourself with some other dinner partner I know that you are taking this second alternative, but I also wish you to know the depth of my regrets for bringing you this humiliation."

My father paused again, but Dickey spoke quickly forestalling whatever the boy might have said.

'May I speak for Hank, Dad?" he asked, and my father evidently understood his son-in-law's reason for the request, for he nodded his assent, and Dicky, with a whimsical glance at his nephew, explained his request

"Hank would not dare to tell you this himself," he said, "but you may be sure he will suffer no humiliation in this projected episode, unless you wish him to have that appearance"

'Of course not," my father responded explosively, 'but I do not see how it is to be avoided '

'Trust Hank to solve that problem," Dicky said. "I happen to know" he shot a quizzical glance at his nephew again—'that he has a long waiting list of possible dates with attractive young women Not one of them combines the charm, the brilliance of brain and the beauty of Miss Conway, but I know that one, at least, of his acquaintances who fits the appellation, 'beautiful but dumb,' has beauty rivaling Miss Conway's Hank has taken her out before, and I am sure that he will choose her for his partner at the 'Yale heels dinner, and manage to give the impression that she was his first choice, and that his host's choice of Miss Conway as a dinner partner does not disturb him in the least"

There was an old expression in my father's eyes as Dicky finished speaking, a mingling of amusement respect, and a touch of chagrin that he had not guessed Hank's resourcefulness for himself But his reply was matter-of-fact

"I am very much relieved to hear that," he said, and was careful not to look at Hank, whose face was crimsoned with boyish embarrassment. "And now we will go on to the next point as to the date of our projected dinner party in New Haven Of course it must coincide with that on which the 'Yale heel' will throw his next party. I believe that is the jargon generally used, is it not?"

He did not wait for a reply, but went on swiftly

'Have you boys any sources of finding out the date of his next party?"

WHY DID WE SPEND

74 TIMES MORE

FOR THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

TO PLAN OUR LIVES ---

In 1949 THE GOVERNMENT SPENT OVER

14 BILLION DOLLARS

BEYOND THE COST OF MAKING, JUDGING AND ENFORCING LAWS AND EXCLUSIVE OF DEFENSE, VETERAN'S BENEFITS AND INTEREST ON PUBLIC DEBT.

THAN WE SPENT FOR THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

TO MAKE OUR LAWS...

(LEGISLATIVE — $ 46,000,000)

TO ENFORCE OUR LAWS...

(JUSTICE DEPARTMENT — $126,000,000)

TO JUDGE OUR LAWS

(THE JUDICIARY — $21,000,000)

WE SPENT 216 TIMES MORE FOR EXECUTIVE OFFICES THAN FOR CONGRESS

WE SPENT 475 TIMES MORE FOR EXECUTIVE OFFICES THAN FOR THE JUDICIARY

IF WE WANT LIBERTY, WHY DO WE DO SUCH THINGS? ISN'T IT BECAUSE WE, THE PEOPLE, DO NOT UNDERSTAND AND INSIST ON A MORAL PURPOSE FOR OUR GOVERNMENT?

IN RECEIVING the gift of LIFE from God, every individual is given different and unequal amounts of talent and ability.

Every individual also receives, from God, the LIBERTY to use his talents and ability to make his own living and pursue his own happiness.

Also, to make his own living, every individual receives from God the right to what he earns and saves from his work — his PROPERTY. For what is your PROPERTY, but an extension of your LIBERTY to use your talents?

Any attempt to equalize the various earnings of men can be made only by passing immoral laws . . . laws that, by government force, take away the God-given LIBERTY and PROPERTY of some for the special benefit of others. Then government becomes immoral, for it interferes with the individual's gifts from God.

Therefore, we cannot have our God-given LIBERTY and also have the various personal ideas of man-made EQUALITY. If we want LIBERTY our government must have a moral purpose based on God-given individual rights.

SO THE PURPOSE OF OUR GOVERNMENT MUST BE—

"TO MAKE AND ENFORCE LAWS WHICH PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S LIFE, LIBERTY AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP—AND THESE LAWS MUST PROTECT THE PEOPLE FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF."

All history proves that when a government does not have this purpose it becomes immoral!

GUIDE TO FREEDOM

JUDGE ALL LAWS BY ASKING THIS QUESTION,

"DOES THIS LAW PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL IN HIS GOD-GIVEN RIGHT TO LIFE, LIBERTY AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF?"

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

HOLLYWOOD

(Second of two articles about Harry Bridges)

THE OTHER DAY a federal agent rapped on the door of a movie studio technician. The wife answered. No, her husband, a film sound stage "grip" (electrical expert), wasn't home. She didn't know when he'd be home. Good-by. The government agent didn't get his man.

At five different homes this happened. Each time it did — a process server for the House Investigating Committee had to report back to the waiting congressmen that their men had disappeared. Soon, informed labor circles learned, these fugitive five had slipped over the border into Mexico.

Victor Riesel

This has been overlooked by the nation, for the runaways had no glamor. They were movie workers the camera never picks up. But they were more important than the parade of glamorous "Intellectuals" who testified.

They were the Communist cadre in the Hollywood technical unions. And they were so important that their political chiefs supplied the funds for escaping the country so they wouldn't be called on to testify and so expose what the Communists cherish most — their undercover trade union apparatus in the studios and in the producers' offices themselves, where some secretaries have been placed in strategic positions. They're quiet now. But they're there waiting.

* * *

SO HERE IN Hollywood you see how the pro-Communist apparatus is operating inside labor—right across country. It is the reflection of the strategy of busy Harry Bridges, boss of the apparatus.

He too is operating quietly — and waiting. For two weeks I checked him in San Francisco. I learned that in some of the biggest plants employing his warehouse union members, he has been the most peaceful, affable, agreeable union leader this side of Gypsy Rose Lee. Ever since his indictment for lying about his membership in the Communist party, his union hasn't even had a single grievance against the management of some of these giant organizations.

This is reorganization time.

Bridges is too busy building the pro-Communist labor network. Doing a good job too. And an intense one. For he has only 60 days before his appeal from his conviction for perjury is heard by the Circuit Court of Appeals. Then, a few months more before the Supreme Court decides to free him or jail him.

* * *

SO HIS PROJECT — a third pro-Soviet federation of labor in the U. S. to fight the A.F.L. and C.I.O.—must be given a flying shove within the next six months. But he has enough time. His two special lieutenants run his union for him. One is Jack Hall, a glowering, thick set, full-faced man in silver-spectacles, listed in Congressional testimony as a Communist party charter activist. He directs Bridges' real base of power, the Hawaiian sugar and pineapple workers.

It would be fascinating to go into further congressional testimony which charges that to capture these sugar workers for Harry Bridges' Boy Hall, " The Communists stuffed the ballot boxes on behalf of the candidate. Or how Hall, according to the congressional records, took orders from couriers sent from the mainland by the San Francisco Communist party, on directives from New York.

* * *

ON THE MAINLAND, Harry's other "lieutenant" — some say he's Harry's boss, braintrust and moneybags—is a crew cut, dirty blond, arrogant little fellow by name of Louis Goldblatt. Although the government knows he's one of the most powerful operatives on the west coast, it has never touched him.

This is a real college boy who went big for "The Revolution." A "Sather Gate orator," they used to call him at the University of California. That is the Hyde Park or Union Square there. An accomplished pianist, a sugary, swaying speaker, a financial genius, he devises much of Bridges' strategy—and handles the folding money. Bridges never negotiates with the employers if Goldblatt is indisposed. Recently when there was a showdown over power in Hawaii, Louis-boy flew to the Islands—fast. And he won.

Incidentally, neither Hall nor Goldblatt, the brains, are longshoremen or warehousemen. They are just operators.

So Harry finds the time to criss-cross the country and leave his domain in powerful hands, some say more powerful than his.

* * *

HARRY'S JOB NOW is to whip together that new labor federation—based on about half a million dues payers in industries which keep this nation alive.

Bridges' men control unions in atomic energy installations, electronic, aircraft, jet motors plants, in the copper mining and smelting fields, in auto, tank, gun and agricultural implement factories, on our most strategic docks, in our vital warehouses, on fishing fleets in waters neighboring Soviet Russia, in metal fabricating shops, meat packing houses and thousands of commercial units—with treasuries totaling over $50,000,000

At the same time, cadres are being nursed in other industries—such as the movies here.

Mr. Bridges isn't falling down—definitely.

SUSPEND TAX CHIEF. "Outrageous!" says James G. Swyth, Internal Revenue department collector at San Francisco, on suspension of himself and six aides pending investigation of "certain irregularities." A federal grand jury, picking up where the Kefauver committee left off in March, is investigating such charges as "shakedowns" and "fixing" of returns.

One Little Mistake

By Hal Boyle

THIS is the tale of a marital phonograph duel by night.

Trellis Mae Peeble had been trying for years to get a new fur coat. But Wilbur her husband, kept putting her off. He always insisted they couldn't afford it.

One day, after a fresh rebuff of this kind, Trelis Mae read a newspaper article that gave her a new and exciting idea of a way to win Wilbur over. The article told how people could memorize information subconsciously in their sleep if the message to be learned was dinned into their ears over and over again.

Hal Boyle

"I think this is going to get me my fur coat," mused Trellis Mae. "That is, if Wilbur has a subconscious mind."

And she hurried right down town and had a personal phonograph record made of the message she wanted to deliver.

When Wilbur came home that night complaining he was tired, his wife told him to go to bed early. He thought that was unusually gracious of her, but complied.

* * *

AS SOON AS SHE HEARD him breathing heavily, Trellis Mae arose and lugged a portable phonograph into the bedroom. Unfortunately for her, Wilbur wasn't asleep at all. Through wary, half-closed eyes he watched as she put on the record. And with wide awake ears he listened as her message came out of the machine.

"Now hear this, Wilbur Peeble! Don't be a cheapskate all your life. All your friends' wives have fur coats. Do you want your own wife to look like a bum? Tell her tomorrow to buy a fur coat. After all, you can't take money into heaven. Spend a little, Wilbur. Tell your wife to get that fur coat now!"

Wilbur laughed to himself as Trellis Mae hopefully cranked the phonograph and played the record over and over. She had to quit after four hours because of a charleyhorse.

* * *

AT BREAKFAST the next morning Wilbur solemnly told her:

"Honey, maybe I've been acting like a cheapskate about that fur coat. I don't want you looking like a bum. You go buy that coat today."

"Y-y-you m-m-mean it?" stuttered his sleepy wife, rubbing her sore arm.

"Why, sure, dear," he said. "All your friends have fur coats."

When he returned from work that night, Trellis Mae showed him a $2,000 fur coat she had taken out from the store on approval. Wilbur said it looked wonderful, and Trellis Mae went to bed, worn out but happy.

Half an hour later Wilbur launched his wily counterattack. He crept in with the portable phonograph. For six straight hours he played the following record into his wife's sleeping ear:

"Now hear this, Trellis Mae! A good wife saves her husband's money. You look like a polar bear in that fur coat. You don't want a fur coat. Take it back to the store. A good wife saves her husband's money."

* * *

THE FOLLOWING morning Trellis Mae said fretfully:

"I don't know what's the matter with me. I don't like that fur coat, and I'm going to take it right back. I think we ought to save the money."

Wilbur decided it was wise to play it cautious.

"I guess men never will understand women," he said. "But do as you like. Why don't you return the coat late this afternoon? Then you can drop by my office, and I'll treat you to dinner out and a show."

"Yes, dear," said Trellis Mae dutifully

Late that afternoon the door to Wilbur's office opened In strolled his wife—still wearing the $2,000 fur coat.

"I thought—" he began, startled.

"I'm keeping the coat even if I look like a walrus in it," she said grimly.

"I don't understand—" said Wilbur.

"Well, I haven't got it all figured out yet myself," said Trellis Mae, "But I'll tell you the mistake you made, Wilbur. You forgot to take your record off the phonograph this morning."

Shortage Of Scrap Worries Steelmakers

CLEVELAND, Oct. 1—(AP)—With demand far outrunning supply, the steel industry entered the final quarter of 1951 today increasingly concerned over the scrap iron and steel shortage, Steel magazine said.

"There is little possibility demand - supply balance can be achieved in the months immediately ahead," 'Steel reported in noting "arrearages from third quarter are substantial, and the defense load gives signs of increasing."

Should a shortage of scrap force curtailment of the peak production, the backlog would burgeon. Last week production stayed at high level, moving up a half point to 101 5 percent of capacity.

Ohio Valley scrap users were among those in worst shape. Nationally the average stockpile was big enough to last only 1.4 months, as of Sept. 1.

A stepped-up drive among farmers after the harvest season is planned to boost stockpiles before freezing weather. Auto wrecker scrap is being received in larger quantity and may reach 3.9 millions gross tons this year—30 percent above 1950.

Drug Smuggler Trapped At Prison Farm

LONDON, O., Oct. 1—(AP)—London prison farm authorities found the source of the institution's benzedrine traffic yesterday beneath the trouser leg of a visitor.

The tablets, which retail at a nickel each, were bringing as high as $2 apiece in the prisoners' candy-and-tobacco barter system, prison officials said.

John Aiello, 23, of Cleveland, was arrested when he refused to submit to a search. Sheriff Harold R Bidwell found a package containing 503 benzedrine tablets on Aiello's leg, fastened with adhesive tape.

Victor J. Monte, assistant superintendent of the institution, said he had known since Aug. 2 that a benzedrine traffic was going on at the farm. He said Aiello's brother, Sam, an inmate of the tuberculosis ward, was the inside man.

Two inmate nurses were peddling the drug, Monte said. He did not name the nurses.

Dodgers, Giants In Playoff To Determine Pennant Winner

St. Mary Loses Protest and Game to St. Rose

Irish Short-Changed On 4th Down Ruling

By A. L. McCLAIN
Marion Star Sports Editor

St. Mary went down before favored Lima St. Rose, 13-6, but it was a "missing fourth down" ruling by the officials that sent most of the 900 fans home mumbling.

The ruling in question came in the third quarter with the visitors holding a 13-6 lead The Fighting Irish took the kickoff and started from their own 25. A series of gains was climaxed by Dave Carr's 14-yard dash to the Pirate 27 for a first down.

On the first play Jim Finnegan ripped to the 21 Then Carr took a pitchout to the 18. On third down Finnegan was stopped just short of a first down on the St Rose 17½.

With fourth down coming up, the official ruled it was Lima's ball and the Pirates took over. The scoreboard still showed fourth down coming up.

Protest

Coach Ray Robbins and his assistants, Ninny Irvin, and Max Roseberry, rushed in to protest, but to no avail.

After the game the official blamed the man yard marker for the error, claiming fourth down was flipped over on the indicator before he gave the signal, and he thought Finnegan's try had been on fourth down.

It was a tough break for the underdog Irish. It came at a point when they were on the march and seemingly unstoppable.

The game was a thriller from the opening gun. St. Mary scored first when after an exchange of punts, the Irish drove 86 yards. Dave Carr did most of the ball carrying and Jim Kilbury the passing. From the St. Rose 25 Kilbury rifled a pass to End Dick Gunder who made a nice catch in the end zone.

Kilbury's extra point attempt was no good.

Minutes later the Pirates took the lead when they drove all the way from their own 48 climaxed by Jim Stolley's 10-yard dash around his own right end. Jim Zerante's placement was good.

Key Block

St. Rose'n other TD came in the third quarter. when Ernie Bonanno skirted his own left end behind a key block by Stolley. Zerante's attempt was no good this time.

End Kelvin O'Connor's booming kicks helped keep St. Mary away in the final period. St. Mary reached the Pirate 41 before time ran out.

• • •

Most outstanding player on the field was St. Mary's Dave Carr. The 138-pound scatback turned in an outstanding game both offensively and defensively. Several times he seemed about to go all the way, but failed to get good blocking.

The Irish travel to Tiffin to play Tiffin Calvert this week.

Durocher Gives Players Credit For Comeback

NEW YORK, Oct. 1—(UP)—A quiet, subdued Leo Durocher said today that the New York Giants' unbelievable comeback "is the greatest thing that's ever happened to me in baseball."

The once brash and cocky Durocher was as limp as the average fan after his team's magnificent stretch drive, climaxed by yesterday's 3-2 victory over the Braves, had created the second post-season playoff in the National League's history.

Newsmen pumped the once-easily needled Durocher to claim the credit, to shout that the Giants would "murder them bums," to mount his familiar soap box and tell the world "how I did it." But the mellowed former bad boy of the big leagues just smiled and gave the credit—all the credit—"to the greatest team I ever managed."

"This team doesn't need managing," he said. "They won it. Not me. I just watched."

He sat a moment, puffing on a cigaret and waiting for the next question. When none came he smiled and summed up his attitude toward the three-game playoff with the Dodgers that will decide the pennant.

"There's a game at 1 30 the next three days," he said. "We've come a long way and now we've just got to go a little further."

Browns Lose 1st Opening Game to 49ers, 24-10

PASADENA, Calif, Oct. 1 — (AP)—The San Francisco 49ers handed the Cleveland Browns their first opening-game loss in history by finally coming up yesterday with a better line.

Cleveland linemen — both on offense and defense — dominated the old All-America Conference the four years it existed. Last year when they were winning the National Football League championship the Browns had the best defensive line.

But yesterday — both on offense and defense — Coach Buck Shaw's rookie-spliced 49er line had the better of it and won, 24-10.

The 49ers' blocking allowed Verly Lillywhite and other coast runners to grind out 236 yards against the 55 Cleveland backs totaled.

On defense, the 49er linemen rushed Cleveland's Otto Graham so much he had trouble with his vaunted passing. Only 18 of his 30 throws connected. Twice the San Franciscans started touchdown drives after intercepting. And often Graham failed to get the ball away in time — that cost the Browns a total of 50 yards.

Coach Paul Brown, refusing to talk for the record, locked the dressing room doors after the game before addressing the Cleveland players. Then they flew here to start practice for next Sunday's game against Los Angeles.

The losers had some hopes for better results against the Rams, whom they shaded in an exhibition. By Sunday two key defensive players and a top tackle may be back in the lineup.

Tackle Chubby Grigg and Linebacker Hal Herring missed all of the 49er game because of injuries.

Tony Adamle, another linebacker, injured his ankle in the second period.

The victory made San Francisco the only team to hold three triumphs over the Browns. The last time the 49ers beat Cleveland was in 1949 and that game also was played at San Francisco's Kezar Stadium.

THE INTERNATIONAL Boxing Club of New York, of which Jim Norris (above) is president, has been accused by two U. S. Senators of "vicious monopolistic contract practices." Harry Markson, managing director of the IBC, has admitted that big-time boxing practices are under U. S. investigation but said that the government representatives have not approached officials of the organization.

State, M.S.C. Game Heads Grid Schedule

CHICAGO, Oct. 1—(AP)—The Big Ten, looking both good and bad in its opening games, must bear down this week for two conference engagements and five sharp intersectional clashes

The title campaign will open Saturday with Wisconsin at Illinois, in a pivotal feature that could keynote the final championship alignment, and Iowa at Purdue.

In non-league action, Pitt is at Indiana, Stanford at Michigan, Minnesota at California, Army at Northwestern and Michigan State at Ohio State in what should be one of the top games nationally

Notre Dame invades Detroit for a Friday night date while Iowa State is at Marquette Saturday to round out the schedule for major Midwestern independents.

Generally, last Saturday's 1951 inaugural games for the Big Ten followed form as far as results were concerned. But the size of scores provided surprises.

Massacre

Notre Dame's 48-6 massacre of Indiana was the biggest jolt to Big Ten pride.

A series of fumbles, pass interceptions and poorly-aimed center snapbacks led to the Hoosiers' collapse.

Iowa downed Kansas State, 16-0, but the victory margin was expected to be much more. And Ohio State had an unexpectedly tough job in shading Southern Methodist, 7-0, in a game that stacked up as something much more explosive.

Michigan showed a loss of 23 yards on the ground and a net gain of only 29 in the air in being mauled 25-0 by Michigan State.

Other Big Ten assignments were more pleasing Northwestern's rebuilt team romped over veteran Colorado, 35-14.

Purdue held Texas to a 14-0 victory and one of the most surprising showings was by Minnesota in making Washington press from behind in the final minutes to snatch a 25-20 win.

Wisconsin scored 14 points in the last quarter to down stubborn Marquette 22-6.

Garver Posts 20th Victory

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1—(AP)—Ned Garver's teammates say he didn't have his usual stuff yesterday, but—

The St. Louis Browns' pitcher won his 20th game of the year.

He became the first American League hurler since 1924 to win 20 games with last-place club.

He walloped his only home run of the season

The Browns beat the Chicago White Sox 9-5.

The righthander said he had a sore throat all week. And both Manager Zavk Taylor and Catcher Sherman Lollar said Garver didn't have his usual stuff yesterday He had to depend on his fast ball most of the way.

Just nine days ago, Garver had only 17 victories He beat the White Sox Sept. 22, the Detroit Tigers last Wednesday and the Sox again yesterday.

Belkas, Wolfe In Top Grapple Bout

Chris Belkas will lay his junior heavyweight title on the line in Marion for the second successive week Thursday night when he meets highly-regarded Joe Wolfe in a 60-minute main event at the armory.

Chippewa Lone Eagle and Whitey Walberg will tangle in a 30-minute opener at 8.30 while in the semi-final bout Millie Stafford will meet Eva Lee in a 60-minute, two-out-of-three-falls bout.

Tickets for the card may be purchased at Markert and Lewis or at the armory Thursday night.

Both Come Up With Victories in Final Games

By JACK HAND

BROOKLYN, Oct. 1—(AP)—The New York Giants "miracle men" of '51 and the dead game Brooklyn Dodgers charge into hand-to-hand combat for the National League pennant today in the opener of a best-of-three playoff series.

The tie resulted yesterday under the most dramatic circumstances when Jackie Robinson's 14th inning homer gave the Dodgers a 9-8 edge over the Phillies after the Giants subdued Boston, 3-2, behind Larry Jansen.

All even at the end of the regular 154-game schedule, the Giants and Dodgers collide at Ebbets Field at 1:30 p.m. (E.S.T.). And collide may be the proper word for this feud of bitter rivals. The series continues Tuesday at the Polo Grounds If a third game is necessary, it also will be played at the Polo Grounds Wednesday.

Barring rain, the World Series with the New York Yankees will start Thursday at Yankee Stadium That goes, even if the Giants or Brooks win in two straight.

Cloudy weather and a little relief from the topcoat temperatures of the last two days were forecast by the weatherman.

Hearn Choice

Jim Hearn (16-9) was Manager Leo Durocher's choice to work for the comeback Giants, who earned a tie by chopping down a 13½ game Dodger lead of Aug. 11 in a furious .841 stretch drive.

The ex-St. Louis righthander, picked up for the $10,000 waiver price last year, had a 2-3 record against the Dodgers. Brooklyn leads the Giants 9-2 at Ebbets Field and 13-9 for the season.

Chuck Dressen of the Brooks, fresh out of pitchers after his team's desperate last stand, had Ralph Branca (13-10) for the opener. The big righthander was 2-4 against the Giants on the season. He pitched 1 1/3 innings yesterday in relief of Preacher Roe.

While the Dodgers and Giants continued their struggle, the American League champion Yankees scheduled daily workouts to keep in fighting trim. Manager Casey Stengel already has named Allie Reynolds, his double no-hit ace, to pitch the series opener.

This was the second playoff in the storied history of the National League, now celebrating its diamond jubilee. In 1946, St. Louis and Brooklyn fought to a dead heat and the Cards polished off the Dodgers two straight.

Back in 1908, as an aftermath of the famous "Fred Merkle didn't touch second" controversy, the Chicago Cubs beat the Giants in a post-season playoff of a tie game. But that wasn't any playoff series—only a replay of the disputed game that ended in a 1-1 tie.

Dressen feared the Dodgers might have to play without Catcher Campanella who pulled a muscle in his leg running out a triple at Philadelphia. But he thought Robinson, badly shaken by his diving game-saving catch on Eddie Waitkus liner, would be able to go.

Brooklyn still sung with talk of Robinson's deeds at Shibe Park How he saved the game with that diving catch of a low liner with the bases full in the 12th. How he drove a Robin Roberts pitch deep into the upper tier in left field in the 14th. How the Dodgers overcame a 6-1 Phil lead, finally tied the score in the eighth and won a game they absolutely had to win.

Two were out in the 14th and it looked as if the Sunday curfew might halt the game without a decision when Robinson smashed his homer. If the game had been stopped by the Sunday law with the score tied, it would have been played over completely today.

When Robinson hit his homer, The Giants were riding back home from Boston, not knowing whether they were pennant winners or tied. They got the final score by telephone near Providence, R. I., naturally they were disappointed at the many chances the Phils blew in the extra innings.

As soon as he heard the result, Durocher said. "boys, tomorrow we go back to work. There was nothing we could have done about it. It's Hearn."

Durocher wouldn't name any other pitchers but added that all except Sal Maglie and Jansen would be in the bullpen. It was obvious that Maglie and Jansen would follow in that order.

LaRue String Ends at 17

LaRue's victory string that included 17 games over three seasons ended abruptly when Johnsville ran over the Indians, 58-12 in a game played at Mt. Gilead Saturday night.

Johnsville scored 14 points in each of the first three quarters and added 16 in the final.

LaRue trailed 14-12 at the end of the opening period, but fell off the pace when three of the starting backs were injured. Dick Kurtz, Ronnie James, and Dick Hoover all finished on the bench.

Oysters are grown all over the world, except on shores washed by polar seas.

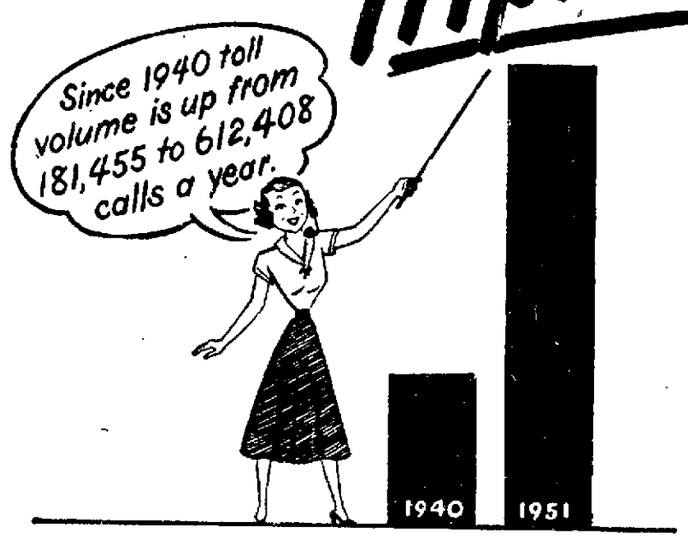
Marion's Long Distance Volume has more than Tripled!

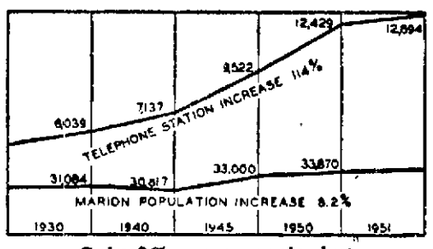


Are you making more local and long distance calls today? Yes, if you are an average Marion telephone user. During 1950 the annual volume of toll calls increased almost 431,000 over the 1940 total.

PART OF THE INCREASE IS DUE TO THE ADDITION OF 5,757 MORE TELEPHONES IN MARION

There are 80% more telephones in Marion today than there were in 1940 —and 114% more than in 1930! Naturally this has resulted in a larger total number of calls, both local and toll. But most of our customers—old and new—are making more calls.

Telephone increase versus population increase in Marion

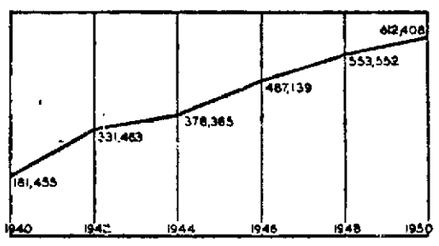


Only 8% more people, but TWICE as many telephones

85% MORE TOLL USAGE PER TELEPHONE!

Over the past 10 years, there has been an 85% increase in long distance calls per telephone per month. This means that the overall increase is due to added usage, as well as to new installations.

How Marion's annual toll volume has shot up!



$140,000 IN ADDITIONAL EQUIPMENT THIS YEAR TO SERVE INCREASED LONG DISTANCE TRAFFIC IN MARION

The extraordinary demand for long distance service has required the installation of $140,000 worth of new equipment during this year alone.

Expansion such as this has caused a major increase in the cost of providing telephone service. During 1950, our expenditures for plant were the equivalent of $430 for each new telephone gained.

WHAT ARE YOUR ORDERS, SUKI SUSIE, OUR LEADER?
LET ME REVIEW THIS DEVILMENT YOU AND ANNI HAVE GOT US INTO...FIRST YOU ALLOWED MRS INDEX TO TRICK YOU INTO REVEALING OUR TUNNEL...
NOW SHE MUST BE HELD AS A HOSTAGE IN CASE WE ARE DISCOVERED...BUT THE COLONEL WILL BE LOOKING FOR HER...
I TOLD HIM SHE LEFT THE HOUSE WITH MAJOR CANYON!... THE COLONEL IS SO JEALOUS HE WENT AT ONCE TO FIND THE MAJOR!
WHILE BEHIND HER BACK DELTA TEARS HER HANDKERCHIEF TO SHREDS...
MAJOR CANYON, WHAT DID YOU LEARN FROM THE COLONEL'S LIBRARY ABOUT NATIVE TUNNELS?
I DISCOVERED THAT COL. INDEX THINKS I DUG ONE AND CARRIED HIS WIFE AWAY THROUGH IT! I'M RESTRICTED TO QUARTERS, IF YOU TWO HAVE ANY OTHER BRIGHT IDEAS TO TRY OUT ON ME!

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Compulsory filming of all operations is being urged and we all look forward to the three-reel appendectomy with live commentary.

* * *

I don't know what will happen to daytime TV when the kidney kinescope in full color becomes popular.

* * *

But it will give us a switch on "come up and see my 19-inch screen" which replaced "Come up and see my etchings."

* * *

I don't know why doctors are pressing for cameras in the operating room but it sure will give us a new opening every night.

* * *

Some doctors are filming their operations now and I understand the bill reads "surgery, $300; makeup $8; kinescope $400."

* * *

But after some of the stuff we've seen on the home screen it would be a pleasure to sit back and watch a nice adenoid episode.
